YOUNG MEN OF STATE TO MEET HERE FRIDAY

175 from All Parts of Ohio Will Come Here for Annual Conference.

THREE SPEAKERS LISTED

Registration To Be Held at First Presbyterian Church at 2 P. M.

[illegible] Bunce of Columbus, state Y. M. C. A. young men's secretary, and local committee chairmen, went over the program for the [illegible] annual Ohio Young Men's conference in a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Y with Earl N. Hale general secretary. The program is practically complete.

The conference will hold sessions here Friday night, Saturday and Sunday with an expected attendance of 175 young men from 18 to 25 years of age from all parts of Ohio. The conference theme will be "Opportunities for Citizenship." Following the program discussion plans for placing the delegates in Marion homes were studied.

Three Speakers

The three principal speakers so far listed on the program are Dr. James Thomas, Cincinnati pastor, Dr. Frank D. Slutz, Dayton educator and lecturer and J. Edward Sproul of New York City, national council secretary on young men's work.

Young men attending the conference will be from Y-Indus, Squareheads, Phalanx and Mars club of Ohio Y. M. C. A. organizations. The meeting is being sponsored by the state Y. M. C. A. The four clubs in Marion will act as hosts. The First Presbyterian church will serve as headquarters for most of the conference.

The program as announced to date will begin with registration Friday at 2 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church, under the direction of Ralph Garner of Columbus, state Y. M. C. A. registrar. The first event will be a fellowship banquet at 6 p. m. Friday at the church. An address of welcome will be given by R. F. Fletcher, chairman of the young men's committee of the Marion Y. Dr. Thomas will speak.

The conference will swing into a full day's activity Saturday with the first session at 9 a. m. at the church. An organ recital by Mrs. Harry T. Williams and a devotional period led by Rev. Albert Slack of Marion will be included. This will be followed by division into discussion groups under the direction of Mr. Sproul. At noon, luncheon will be served at the church, with an open forum coming afterwards, under supervision of Dr. Slutz. Then the delegates will be taken on a tour of Marion, including stops at the Harding home and the Harding memorial.

Sports Program

At 3 p. m. the conference will turn its attention to the volleyball and basketball tournaments in the Marion Steam Shovel Co. gym on West Center street.

Then at 6 p. m., a dinner and program will be given at the church. Dr. Slutz will summarize the conference's work. The next will be a gala reception at 9 p. m. in The Star auditorium. The reception will be informal, and a number of Marion girls will be hostesses. An elaborate program has been outlined for the entertainment.

Official business of the conference will be taken up Sunday morning in the concluding sessions. The council made up of one representative from each club, will meet at

MUSSOLINI VISITS POPE FIRST TIME

Nation Celebrates New Holiday as Duce Is Received in Vatican.

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11—Pope Pius XI received Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy for an hour at the Vatican today, the first time the two chiefs who solved Italy's long quarrel with the church have met during the years they have negotiated together.

The visit took place as the country was celebrating a new national holiday, the third anniversary of the signing of the Lateran treaty between Italy and the Vatican. Ending the long "imprisonment" of the Pope in the Vatican and restoring relations between the state and the Holy See.

The premier's official party made its way to Vatican city through troop-lined streets crowded by cheering thousands. The route was covered with orange-colored sand.

A short time later the pontiff and the premier met face to face in the Pope's private apartments, shook hands heartily and sealed their peace in friendly conversation.

No one witnessed the meeting. Tradition, however, called for Il Duce to bend his knee and kiss the Pope's episcopal ring as a sign of reverence.

Mussolini might have entered the enormous doorway in the right colonnade where hangs the great bronze door that was shut for 58 years when the popes were theoretical "prisoners" in the Vatican. But he went to the pope as have millions of others, kings and pilgrims, through the court of San Damaso, heart of the Catholic church's administration.

Guards Line Route

Swiss guards, in the gorgeous yellow and blue costumes designed by Michelangelo four centuries ago, saluted him at every turn.

The third anniversary of the signing of the Lateran treaty between Italy and the Vatican was celebrated today throughout Italy as a new national holiday.

Stores were closed and the tricolor hung from government buildings. In the Vatican Swiss guards and papal gendarmes were in full uniform, and the papal flag of yellow and white hung from the medieval structures.

CRASH ENDS GUN BATTLE

Two Alleged Bandits Dead, Girl Companion Hurt in Wild Columbus Chase.

RIDING IN STOLEN CAB

Poice Cruiser Pursues Trio Ten Miles Before Car Hits Tree.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—Two alleged bandits were killed and their girl companion critically hurt, when their taxicab, which they were alleged to have stolen, crashed into a tree after a 10-mile gun battle with police early today.

The victims were Howard Cooley, 18, and Joseph Lepley, 18, both of Columbus. Mrs. Dorothy Neff, 17, was in a hospital with a broken neck.

Ten minutes before their car crashed into the tree, the trio allegedly held up Harley Spangler, a cab driver, and took his car and $8. Police sent a radio cruiser out to scout for the holdup men.

Within a short time police picked up their trail. During the ensuing gunfire, Cooley lost control of the machine and it crashed into a tree.

The cab was demolished.

REPUBLICANS TO BE GUESTS OF WARNER

Executive Committee Members Invited to Dinner Friday at Hotel Marion.

Speakers will turn the thoughts of the Marion county Republican executive committee to the memory of Abraham Lincoln Friday night, the anniversary of the birth date of the former president, following a banquet for members of the committee in Hotel Marion as the guests of Fred W. Warner, member of the state central committee.

John H. Clark, Grant E. Mouser and W. N. Harder have been asked to give talks on the life of Lincoln, Mr. Warner said today.

The banquet will be a social affair with no business scheduled excepting a probable discussion of the candidacy of Marion county's eight delegates to the state Republican convention. Candidates seeking to be made delegates must file their declarations with the board of elections, and will be voted on at the May 10 primary.

Tells Business Delegation Plan Would Violate Anti-Trust Act.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—A group of six score business executives who placed before President Hoover today a proposal for "a two years' truce in destructive competition," were directed by him to consider their suggestion.

The group, representing independent producers and distributors throughout the country, left the White House at once to continue their conference.

The proposal for a two-year moratorium in competition was asked as an arbitrary period during which there might be "investigation by a non-partisan committee of com[illegible] of existing business conditions."

COOPER SEEKS GOVERNORSHIP

Former Chief Executive Enters Race for Republican Nomination.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11—Former Governor Myers Y. Cooper will seek reelection as Ohio's chief executive.

Defeated by Governor George White, Democrat, two years ago after he had served one term, Cooper will contest with two other candidates for the Republican nomination this year.

His primary foes will be Davis S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy for aviation, and Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown.

Cooper's decision was made known in a formal statement last night which he opened with the terse sentence "I am a candidate for reelection as governor of Ohio." The issue, he said, will be the "accomplishment of my administration as compared with the record of the present administration."

The former governor reiterated belief that his proposed 25 per cent tax reduction for the home owner, the farmer and the business man "is justified and essential to save the farm for the farmer and the home for the home owner." He would impose greater taxes on intangible wealth and public utilities which "have not been making a fair, just and ratable contribution to the state's revenues."

He said a "great saving" could be effected in the highway department through a definite construction plan designed to meet future conditions and based upon engineering experience. He voiced opposition to the use of gasoline tax money and motor license fees for purposes other than highway projects which provide jobs for the unemployed.

NEW MODELS ARE ANNOUNCED BY FORD

By the Associated Press

DETROIT, Feb. 11—Henry Ford today confirmed rumors that he is planning to bring out an improved four and a new eight-cylinder car in the near future. He also said the chasses of the new models will be so constructed as to permit installation of either four or eight cylinder engines.

Ford in an interview confirmed rumors that the new car will be of longer wheel base, lower hung chassis and heavier. He added that production will start some time this month, the first public showing to [illegible]

CRUCIAL CLASH BELIEVED NEAR

Brief Halt in Chapel Fighting Arranged To Remove Non-Combatants.

BOTH SIDES DIGGING IN

SHANGHAI, China, Feb. 11—A four-hour truce from 8 a. m. to noon tomorrow to permit foreigners to take non-combatants out of Chapei was arranged by a French priest today as both the Chinese and Japanese continued to dig in for a major engagement along the Chapei-Woosung battle line.

Hostilities in Chapei will come to a halt to permit 30 foreigners bearing white flags to get into the Chinese native city. Under a Japanese escort they will carry out women and children and wounded found trapped in that shell torn no-man's land.

Father Jacquinot of Saint Francis Xavier's college was credited with effecting the truce, the first cessation of hostilities in the zone.

The French priest lost an arm at Verdun and holds a medal for heroism in the World war engagement.

Save for that one gesture of mercy, preparations were for renewed and bloodier hostilities.

Yanks in Front Line

United States soldiers of the 31st Infantry moved up into the front line settlement defenses today, occupying one of the most strategic sectors along Woosung creek.

Meanwhile sporadic outbursts occurred both at the Chapei and Woosung ends of the battle zone. Fresh fires were set near the international settlement by Japanese bombers and the invaders also loosed aerial projectiles on the Chinese airdrome at Hunojao, five miles west of Shanghai. The raiders dropped some 50 bombs, the Chinese said, tearing up the ground around the hangars and shaking the countryside. No casualties were reported.

Earlier in the day almost a score of United States marines narrowly missed death from a Japanese aerial bomb in the international settlement. The projectile hit a Chinese-owned cotton mill on Soochow creek in which the marines were billeted, killing five Chinese women and children, workers in the mill. None of the marine was injured.

Rear Admiral S. Shimada, a member of the Japanese command at Shanghai, visited United States marine headquarters immediately and expressed his regrets.

Reparations Promised

Describing the bombing as a mistake, the Japanese commander announced that reparations would be made.

Shimada said the incident occurred while Japanese planes were bombing a concentration of Chinese soldiers near the settlement

Medicine, Law Psychology Aid Church Clinic

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 11—Medicine, the law and psychology have helped make a success of a "life adjustment" experiment of the Plymouth Congregational church, according to Rev. Llewellyn Owen, pastor.

The church operates a clinic to heal mind and body as well as spirit, minister, psychiatrist and physician cooperating in relieving human suffering.

"The Plymouth clinic," Rev. Mr. Owen said, "by using the truths of religion and mental hygiene, helps a person to get out of himself, and gives him relief from the pent-up feelings and nervous tension created by fear, worry and anxiety. Nervous breakdowns often are caused by unhealthy conditions of the mind and spirit carried over a long period.

"Through pastoral counsel we try first to find out the immediate cause of an individual's trouble. We have a cooperating physician or the family physician make a health examination. If there is trouble with creditors or the law we have the patient consult one of our cooperating attorneys. If he has a deep-seated mental conflict [illegible]

LARGE CROWD SEES FIRST STOCK SALE.

Family Welfare Society Moves To Replenish Depleted Stock of Articles.

A mid-winter campaign to procure clothing, shoes, furniture and staple groceries for the less fortunate of the city is set for Feb. 20, by the Family Welfare Society, it was announced today.

The heavy and steady demand on the commissary has not only reduced the quantity of clothing and other articles contributed but has made the outfitting of applicants practically impossible as sizes are found to be sadly lacking.

Everything in the way of wearing apparel for men, women and children is needed a check of the commissary shelves reveals. Shoes and stockings for children, women's shoes and men's trousers, shoes and hose are among the articles most in demand, although the list shows a decided lack of dresses, coats, knickers, winter underwear and sweaters for children, coats, dresses, skirts, hose, sweaters, gloves and underwear for women, overcoats, suits, shirts, sweaters, caps, gloves, underwear and bath robes for men and blankets, comforters, coal stoves and furniture of all kinds for the home.

During the last 13 weeks a total of 10,047 articles have been distributed at the commissary, a figure much higher than that of a 25-week period last year.

Boy Scouts, together with members of the Girl Scouts of the city, will again aid in the collection of garments in a house to house call, Feb. 20, it is announced. Handbills, accompanied by a return card, will be distributed Saturday of this week by the scouts, telling the needs of the commissary. All that is necessary for the donor to do is to mail the return card, signed with name and address, and a truck and scout will call for the contributions.

OHIO HIT BY FLU EPIDEMIC

170 Children of Xenia Orphans' Home Stricken, Several Critically.

By The Associated Press

XENIA, O., Feb. 11—A serious epidemic of influenza claimed new victims today among children at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' orphans home here. More than 170 of the children were ill, several of them in a critical condition.

Dr. A. C. Messenger, resident physician, said he may have to call upon Dayton physicians for assistance. Ten nurses have been added to the regular staff of five, as the institution's new 162-bed hospital was filled with victims.

The epidemic has not reached its peak and new cases were being reported hourly, Dr. Messenger said last night. There are 700 children in the home. Eight of those stricken with influenza had developed pneumonia.

MARTINS FERRY, O., Feb. 11—More than 50 pupils of Barnesville schools are confined to their homes with mild attacks of influenza. The high school at Jewett was forced to suspend sessions for several days because of the illness of several teachers.

Flu Epidemic Wanes Here

While an epidemic of influenza and colds among Marion school children, caused an unusual increase in absence last week, the pupils are returning this week and the attendance is resuming normal proportions.

At Harding High school 50 absences were reported today, as compared with between 80 and 90 a day last week. The Central Junior High school absence reached its peak with 115 out of school a week ago last Friday. Today's absence was 45. Minor colds, which did not cause any noticeable increase in absences were reported by the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school. Attendance was resuming normal figures today at Vernon Heights Junior High school after reaching a peak of 60 absences a day last week.

Politics Dropped as Members Seek To Put Billion into Circulation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—With unprecedented unity, congress put it forces today behind an emergency measure to increase the amount of cash available to American banks and business.

At the urging of President Hoover, Democratic and Republican leaders laid plans to push the bill on a strictly non-partisan basis. It was being completed for introduction today by Senator Glass (Democrat of Virginia) and Chairman Steagall (Democrat of Alabama) of the house banking committee.

The measure will relieve the pressure on small federal reserve member banks by permitting the federal reserve system to rediscount sound securities of these banks which are not now technically eligible.

HART NAMED AS STABBER

Columbus Physician Says Knife Wound Caused Death of George Addison.

BROTHER TAKES STAND

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Feb. 11—Damaging testimony against William Hart, 31, of Mt. Vernon, on trial here charged with second degree murder in connection with the death of George Addison, Morrow county farmer, was given by state witness this morning.

Dr. J. O. Crist of Columbus, who witnessed the post mortem examination of Addison's body, said the knife wound was the primary cause of death. The actual cause of Addison's death was infection and a blood clot in the heart, he said.

Hart was named as the stabber in the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stewart of Columbus. They were guests at the party in Addison's home Dec. 10. Their 9-year-old son also named Hart as the man who did the stabbing.

Arthur Addison, brother of the dead man, told of the start of the fight in the front yard. He said he struck Luke Hart, brother of William, after he had been called a name. He said Luke ran to the porch and called for his brother. William, the witness said, ran to the porch and struck George Addison and started the fight that ended in the stabbing.

Mrs. James Claypool of Columbus who attneded the party, said she entered the front room where the men were holding George and Arthur Addison and William Hart. She said that she heard the latter say "If I get loose I will kill both of you."

CAREY MAN'S TRIAL OPENS; PAL TESTIFIES

Cashier Says Prisoner Is One Who Ordered Him To Put Up Hands.

ALVA WILCOX ON STAND

Reformatory Convict Says He Participated in Robbery on July 10.

Robert J. Wickham, 38, of Carey, was pointed out by two witnesses as the leader of the two men who held up and robbed the Morral bank of $2,260 on July 10 during the opening session of Wickham's trial on a charge of bank robbery in the common pleas courtroom this morning.

J. H. Bardon, cashier of the Morral bank since 1905, who was alone in the bank when it was robbed, pointed to Wickham as the man who ordered him to "stick 'em up," and replied in the affirmative when asked, during cross examination, if he was determined to send Wickham to the penitentiary.

Wilcox on Stand

Alva Wilcox, 23, of Carey, now serving a sentence of 20 years in the Mansfield reformatory for robbing the Bettsville bank in December, and the second witness called by the prosecution, stated that he helped Wickham rob the Morral bank. He declared that Wickham suggested the holdup and made the arrangements. He identified Wickham in the courtroom.

Wilcox, who was brought here from the reformatory to testify, and Bardon told almost identical stories about the details of the holdup. Both said Wickham entered the bank first, walked to the cashier's cage where Bardon was counting currency, and ordered Bardon to hold up his hands. Wilcox, following Wickham into the building, walked behind the counter, and compelled him to lie on the floor, both said. Wilcox then took the money and the men left the bank, fleeing to the west in a Ford roadster, Wilcox said.

Wilcox testified that he drove the roadster, going two miles west of Morral and there turning north. They changed license plates and drove to Carey, he said. Wilcox said he did not know the amount of the loot but was given $700 when the money was divided on a beer crock in Wickham's home.

Attorney J. H. Eymon, during cross examination of Wilcox, charged that Wilcox implicated Wickham to protect a friend, and asked if Wilcox didn't obtain the gun allegedly used by Wickham from Wickham's wife several weeks after the holdup. Wilcox replied that he obtained the gun from Mrs. Wickham and hid it in the grass near Tiffin where he told the officers several weeks ago they would find it, but heatedly denied that he had implicated Wickham to protect a friend.

Identify Gun

Both Wilcox and Bardon identified the gun allegedly used by Wickham in the holdup.

Lawrence Young, assistant in the bank and son-in-law of Bardon, testified that his automobile was passed by a Ford roadster west of Morral shortly after the time of the holdup, and pointed out Wickham as a passenger in the roadster.

Deputy Sheriff Chester Cosgrove told of going to Roanoke, Va., to arrest Wickham, his testimony being corroborated by Police Captain [illegible], who added that he compelled Wickham to drop an automatic pistol which Wickham had drawn on a Roanoke officer at the time of the arrest.

CHURCHES ARE FILLED FOR LENT SERVICES

Ash Wednesday Marks Opening of 40-Day Period of Penitence.

Marion churches observing Ash Wednesday were filled with worshippers last night when the season of Lent opened. At St. Mary's Catholic church ashes were blessed and distributed at the masses yesterday morning and following the sermon and benedicition last night.

Holy communion yesterday morning opened the observance at St Paul's Episcopal church. Last night Rev S S Hardy, rector, delivered a Lenten sermon, following evensong services.

Sermons were delivered at the First Reformed church, Emanuel's Lutheran and Salem Evangelical churches. Rev. Robert W. Hucke of the First Reformed church, Rev. J. W. Schillinger of Emanuel's church and Rev. Paul H. Bourquin of Salem church have arranged for week-night services during the six weeks period.

Rev. Father Edward H. Summe, assistant pastor, delivered the sermon at St Mary's last night, following which Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor, celebrated benediction.

St. Mary's church will have Tuesday night sermons each week in Lent, with Way of the Choss each Friday at 7.30 p. m., and a series of Sunday night lectures for members and non-Catholics.

Each Tuesday during Lent, St. Paul's church will have holy communion at 10 a. m., and Wednesday night sermons at 7:30 p. m. by guest preachers.

The services at Salem Evangelical church will consist of sermons in English on Wednesday nights and German Lenten sermons each Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday night sermons will be delivered at the First Reformed church.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Students Argue Merits of Compulsory Insurance

Marysville and Harding High school forensic teams last night matched wits at the local high school to argue a non-decision debate on the question, "Resolved, That the several states should enact legislation providing for compulsory unemployment insurance"

The meet attracted a fair-sized audience of students and patrons of both schools. On the affirmative team from Marysville were Mildred Bonnett, Martha Mackan and Alice Jackman, and the Marion team upholding the negative side were Junior Wetzel, Herman Rhu and Robert Rosenberg.

The negative team suggested that a voluntary system of unemployment insurance would prove more satisfactory than a compulsory insurance, and the affirmative held that compulsory insurance would stabilize industry, make the unemployed self-supporting without loss of self-respect and should be enacted because all other plans have proved to be inadequate.

A suggestion from the negative debaters that shorter working hours might prove a part of the solution was met by the affirmative with the reply: "Shorter working hours are not adequate. No industry can pay huge wages for fewer working hours. The stagger system gives irregular work which tends to make irregular workers, which results in irregular citizens."

Wetzel, first speaker for the negative endeavored to prove that compulsory insurance would not provide relief for the present depression, would result in political evils, would not be suited to the American people because it interferes with the American idea of liberty and is socialistic and paternalistic.

Miss Bonnett who led off the debate, argued that the insurance would increase the buying power and stabilize industry, because, "when the cost of a depression rests on the employer instead of his employe, he will be more careful of his investments"

The fact that no stigma is attached to collecting insurance was important in Miss Mackan's contention. She mentioned that many crimes, laid to unemployment would be stopped if men were not forced to crime to keep their families from starving.

Rhu quoted the unfavorable action of the American Federation of Labor against such an insurance, and sanctioned the United States chamber of commerce stabilization plan. Miss Jackman scored the voluntary insurance plan presented by the negative side, with figures that only one half of one per cent of the American working men would be covered by the plan, stating that compulsory insurance would be universal.

Rosenberg argued for a program to include a revision of banking laws, the adoption of the U. S. chamber of commerce stabilization plan, the limiting of the Anti-Trust law and for local and individual action.

The first, second and third rebuttals were heated arguments involving all phases and sides of the question.

T. D. Bain, debate coach at Harding High school presided. George S. Ager, Marysville coach and principal of the Marysville Junior High school, accompanied his team here.

Preceding the debate, three musical numbers were given Mrs. Clyde T. Coulter and Miss Grace Kline played a piano duo, "Gavotte und Musette," Raff. Charles Pulsford and George Schoechle contributed a violin duet, "Little Star of Love," Peonce, accompanied at the piano by Miss Bernita LeMasters. The music program closed with a cornet solo by Milton Baker, accompanied at the piano by Miss Kline.

The Harding High school affirmative team will debate the Marysville negative team at Marysville Monday night.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at Henney & Cooper or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.—Adv.

Historical Displays Will Feature Celebration Here

or activities throughout ew months in observance orge Washington bicen- the city and county were at a luncheon meeting of the executive committee yesterday at the Y. M. C. A.

Foremost in the list of events is the meeting of the executive and general committees scheduled for Feb. 20 at Hotel Harding when it is expected definite plans will be outlined and arrangements made for sponsoring events throughout the summer and late fall The importance of the presence at this meeting of members and representatives of the general and executive committees was stressed by Mrs. Harold K Mouser, chairman of the executive committee, as the success of the year's program depends upon the early planning of activities.

Dr. Fred A. Stengel, chairman of the committee in charge of placing displays in the windows of the business district during the celebration, told of the progress which is being made in this line and announced his plans for having exhibits in keeping with the holiday on display over the week-end of Feb 22. It is the plan of the committee to sponsor displays throughout the bi-centennial celebration and persons owning antiques or articles which might fit into the displays are requested to loan them for a short time. Mrs Clarence L. Rutherford was named chairman for this. Owners of antiques who are willing to loan them are asked to get in touch with Mrs. C L. Rutherford

Merchants of the city and the retail branch of the chamber of commerce will be asked to cooperate in sponsoring the display over the week-end of Washington's birthday.

Another project which will be given prominence early in the year's program will be the planting of trees, sponsored by a number of organizations. The planting of 10,000,000 trees in memory of the first president of the United States is the plan of the bicentennial commission, to be carried out with the cooperation of the American Tree association Among the organizations which have already signified their intentions of cooperating in this particular activity are Captain William Hendricks chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs and the Boy Scouts.

Announcement was made that the one-act play to be presented Feb. 25 by a cast of players from the Marion Mimes, would be the organization's initial contribution to the bicentennial celebration. The play is entitled, "Washington, the Man Who Made Us"

500 PUPILS TO BE IN MUSIC CONTEST

Marion Students Will Participate in Meet Preceding Eisteddfod.

Plans are completed for the contest Saturday morning which will be preliminary to the Marion public school eisteddfod Monday morning, Feb. 22.

Approximately 500 students from the grade schools will participate in the Saturday morning contest which will serve as an elimination for the eisteddfod Mrs. James C. Woods of Mansfield formerly of Marion and Dr. A. Rhu will serve as judges in the piano contest and Owen Roberts of Kenton has been chosen to judge the grade school choruses and the boy and girl vocal soloists. A third member will be added to the piano judging group.

The elimination contest will begin at 9 a. m. at Central Junior high school and will be open to the public at a small admission charge to those who will not participate.

The school eisteddfod on the morning of the Marion eisteddfod, will be the first music event of its kind ever held here in the public schools. Two loving cups will be awarded at the eisteddfod, one to the school having the best grade chorus and the other to the best junior high chorus.

Teachers at the buildings with choruses entered will direct their own groups T R Evans, music supervisor, and his assistants, Miss Doris Gump and Hamer D Mitchell have assisted as an advisory group, but the training of the choruses has been left entirely to the individual teachers. Soloists may select their own accompanists, Mr. Evans said yesterday

WORLD PRAYER DAY SERVICES PLANNED

"Hold Fast in Prayer" will be the theme of the world day of prayer services Friday at 2 p. m. at the First United Brethren church. The services will be open to anyone wishing to attend. Woman's missionary socieies thoughout the world will have programs Friday, following an annual custom on the first Friday in Lent.

Mrs. Carl V. Roop will act as program leader, with the women from societies of the Protestant churches of the city taking part. Programs will be distributed to those who attend. The service has been planned so that visitors may come and go throughout the afternoon without disturbing the order of the program.

Revival Opens.

Revival meetings will open Sunday at the Union Baptist church near West Jackson, the pastor, Rev. John H. Long of Richwood, announced this morning. The services will be at 7:45 p. m. with Rev. Mr. Long and guest preachers delivering the sermons.

COURT NEWS

Case Dismissed

Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court yesterday sustained a motion to dismiss the petition before the introduction of evidence when the action of the Economy Hog & Cattle Powder Co. against Clark Miller came up for trial.

The company sued Miller to collect for powder sold to him to be used in treating sheep. Miller filed an answer and cross petition. He alleges that some of his sheep died and is seeking damages from the company.

The motion on which the petition was dismissed stated that the company was not properly organized to do business in Ohio. The law firm of Donithen & Donithen represented Miller, while the Economy Hog & Cattle Powder Co. was represented by the firm of Clark & Arter.

The case was appealed to the common pleas court from the justice of peace court of L. E. Neal of Salt Rock township.

Car Replevined

The replevin suit of the National Bond & Investment Co. against John A. McNeal to regain possession of an automobile was settled in common pleas court yesterday. By terms of the settlement, the company regained possession of the automobile, but did not recover damages. The law firm of Guthery, Strelitz & Guthery represented the company, and Attorney J. H. Bartram was counsel for McNeal.

Asks Accounting

An action for a receivership and an accounting was filed against Claribel Morrison in common pleas court today by Mary E. Weber. They made an oral agreement to go into the beauty culture business, but the defendant has refused to account for the money received by her, according to the petition. Their investment for equipment amounted to $400 and there are debts payable of $200 at present, she states. Mary Weber avers that she wants the partnership dissolved and an accounting made. The law firm of Wilhelm & Robinson represents Mary Weber.

Divorce Dismissed

The divorce action of Clara Dodrill against George Dodrill has been dismissed from common pleas court at the costs of the plaintiff.

Action Dismissed

Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court has dismissed the partion action of Henry L. Uhler against George H Uhler and others.

TOSS—TOSS—TOSS ALL NIGHT LONG

Sleepless Nights a Penalty of Acidity

When you go to bed at night tired and exhausted and still can't sleep and you toss fitfully on your bed all night long, trying first one position and then another, it's almost a sure sign you are "acid."

Magnesia Oxoids, developed in Germany by a famous pharmaceutical house, correct acidity in the right way. Magnesia Ox..., upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent or active oxygen. This stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks intestinal putrefaction and promotes bowel action—all of which are necessary to the true correction of acidity. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids today and take two after each meal. See how much better you feel. If not more than surprised with the results, your money back. boundary in Chapei, and that the airmen did not know they had struck the settlement until they returned to the Japanese airport, when they discovered they were "short" two bombs. An apparently faulty release mechanism was blamed.

Nelson T. Johnson, United States minister to China, Sir Miles Lampson, British minister and Henri A. Wilden, French minister, were reported on their way from Nanking, for what was hoped to be an attempt to bring about a longer truce.

Japanese naval officials indicated, however, they had been marking time for some hours in preparation for a new drive. To back up the indication that they were ready to fight it out to a finish the greatest concentration of guns, manpower and ammunition seen since the beginning of hostilities here was in progress. Forty Japanese warships and transports were jammed into the Yangtze estuary.

JAPAN CELEBRATES

Nation's "Fourth of July" Observed With Ceremonies.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Feb. 11—Japan celebrated its Fourth of July today—the national holiday Kigensetsu.

Kigensetsu is the day on which the empire celebrates the supposed anniversary of its founding by Jimmu Tenno, a descendant of the sun goddess, in 660 B. C.

On the banners which marchers carried were slogans such as "Be loyal to the emperor," "Love our country!" "Don the steel helmet and protect the fatherland!" "Courage and service for country!"

CHINESE JOIN IN

Dress Government Ships Up In Honor of Jap's "Empire Day."

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11—This strictly informal "war" between China and Japan produced another odd incident today when Chinese government customs boats in the Whangpoo river broke out all their bunting and dressed ship in honor of Japan's "empire day."

All other foregin warcraft also were dressed, for in the book of naval etiquet failure to recognize another nation's holiday is justifable only if the celebrating country is not recognized or if there is a state of war.

REPUBLICANS PLAN ROOSEVELT INQUIRY

Senate Votes To Launch Searching Probe of New York Administration.

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11—The Republican senate of New York state plans to investigate the Democratic state administration of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, presidential candidate.

In a surprise move last night the majority put through a resolution for an inquiry in which not a single branch or agency of the complex governmental system would escape scrutiny.

The resolution was patterened after that by which the legislature last year investigated the Democratic administration of New York City. The measure was sent to the assembly, where again the Republican guidance passage was considered certain.

Undertaken ostensibly to find out why state budget obligations for the coming year should amount to $301,000,000, the resolution was branded by a Democratic senator, William T. Byrne of Albany, as purely an attempt to find "ammunition for the campaigns—state and national—in 1932."

PASTOR ANNOUNCES TOPIC FOR SERMON

"The Hypocrite in Emmanuel," will be the sermon subject of Rev. S. F. Porter for his revival sermon tonight at Emmanuel Baptist church. Last night there were three responses after his sermon on the subject, "The Unspeakable Gift of God," in which he spoke as follows:

"An unspeakable gift is a gift beyond words. Such is the gift of God. This gift of God is eternal life. The unspeakable part of this gift is that which reveals God giving Himself to repenting, confessing sinners. He gave to us eternal life and this life is in His Son. God so loved the world that He gave us this unspeakable gift."

A missionary and prayer meeting was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Smith of north Main street.

Junior C. of C. Installs 1932 Officers at Dinner

Welcome P. Cass Becomes President of Marion Young Men's Civic Organization; Dr. Carl W Sawyer Speaks on Place in Community.

An appeal for young men of the community to ally themselves with the forces seeking to solve the stupendous problems of the city, county, state, nation and world was made by Dr. Carl W. Sawyer in an address following the annual banquet of the Junior chamber of commerce in Hotel Harding last night.

The chamber installed its 1932 officers, including Welcome P. Cass, president; Robert N. Heininger, first vice president, Harold Carroll, second vice president, and Sherman Haldeman, secretary and treasurer.

Just as the young men of United States went to the aid of the world during the crisis of the World war, so can the youth of today with its vigor help the world solve its problems, Dr. Sawyer asserted.

Advises Young Men

Dr. Sawyer interjected dozens of quips of advice into the development of his topic, "The Young Man and His Community."

"Your problems will be many and among the greatest of them will be government," he said. "Our government is gradually changing from a democracy to an autocracy, and the young men must look into the principles to decide what the government shall be in the future.

"In eliminating some of the many things we demand from government and in getting value received for our tax dollar we could take two great steps toward solving the governmental problem. Instead of doing this, however, the tendency is to criticize the officials, many of whom are virtually helpless to better the situation."

Other excerpts from Dr. Sawyer's talk follow:

"Don't expect your community to do too much for you; the world doesn't owe you a living. Instead, you owe the world your respect, assistance and work.

"The depression will be a great thing for all of us from 12 to 40 years of age. The fear that it will return will make us more cautious in the future. In previous depressions we've always come out better, stronger and richer. You're going to think better and straighter, learn that you'll have to work every minute, and get away from the idea that money comes easy. You will learn to struggle for it and to take better care of it.

Urges Self Training

"Get to the basic principles of things. Don't become absorbed with the trivial and superficial things. Train yourself to see through things, and you will find that solution of many of your problems will be made surprisingly easier.

"Watch out for persons and groups trying to put something over on you, especially as an organization. Look well into the problems being brought to you; study them. Don't pass too many resolutions in your organization the first time they are read.

Harold Carroll presided at the banquet, introducing Ray Lehner who turned the president's gavel over to Mr. Cass.

A dance for members, guests and their companions followed the banquet. Music was furnished by an orchestra led by Bertram D. Myers.

15 MARION EAGLES TO ATTEND MEETING

Lehner Heads Delegation to District Session at Galion Sunday.

A delegation of at least 15 from Buckeye Aerie No. 337, F. O. E., will be sent to Galion Sunday to a meeting of district No. 8 in the Galion Eagles club house, it was announced at the meeting last night. George J. Lehner was appointed chairman of the delegation committee and will select the delegates. All members are welcome to attend.

A class of five was initiated and seven applications were received. The date for the initiation of the next class will be set at the meeting Wednesday night.

V. V. Bush, lodge trustee, was named chairman of a committee of officers that will go to Mt. Gilead Monday night to confer the work on a class there. After the business meeting, Faye Woolley entertained with magic, stunts and Landon's Hawaiians gave a musical comedy skit.

The Galion district meeting will draw an attendance of probably 150 delegates from lodges in Marion, Bucyrus, Mt. Gilead, Galion, Delaware, Mansfield, Crestline, Mt. Vernon and Johnstown.

DRUMM WINS AGAIN IN BILLIARDS LOOP

Blanchard "Doggie" Drumm turned in another victory last night in the Ohio Pocket Billiards league. Drumm defeated Bergandine of Plain City by a score of 125 to 96.

Drumm's high run for the match was 24 against 28 for Bergandine.

2 PERSONS ANSWER CALL AT SERVICES

Two persons responded to the altar call last night at Wesley M. E. church when Rev. W. Martell George, pastor, preached a revival sermon on the subject, "The Sin of Neglect." Twenty-five members of the Woman's Home Missionary society attended in a body. Tonight the Woman's Bible class will attend in a body. Rev. Mr. George will speak on the subject, "Seeking the Lord."

Last night he said in part: "If everyone, after listening to the warnings of God, would take heed there would be no need of evangelistic services. There are no words that can describe the salvation that God offers the world. The only hope for the world today is that people pay attention to saving their souls."

EDISON SCHOOL GIVEN PICTURE

A service honoring Thomas A. Edison was held at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school yesterday afternoon, when the Rotary club formally presented the school with a large framed likeness of its namesake.

Don Howard, president of Rotary, presented the picture with a short talk. J. E. Frew, principal, accepted it on behalf of the school. Following the presentation, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer gave an interesting and intimate study of Edison's life and of his birthplace at Milan, O. Pupils of Miss Dorothy Stawser's room sang an appropriate song.

Hottest furnaces are heated 3000 degrees Fahrenheit.

CITY WILL OBSERVE LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Majority of Business Places, Public Offices To Remain Open.

Although Friday is a legal holiday in Ohio, a majority of county officers will remain open for business, county officials announced today. County Treasurer R. G. Smallwood called attention of taxpayers to the fact that payments will be received during regular hours Friday. Only the commissioners' office will be closed.

Banks and building and loan companies will observe the holiday. The post office will be open all day. No arrangements had been made today to close city offices.

A majority of business places will remain open as usual. Special Lincoln programs will be presented in the schools, and other special programs honoring the memory of Lincoln have been planned for Friday night by a number of clubs and organizations.

WHEELER COMBINE WINS PISTOL SHOOT

Scoring 1396 points, Captain J. R. Wheeler's No. 1 team of the Marion Revolver association won a victory last night over the No. 3 team captained by Grant S. Price. The Price marksmen scored 1384 points. The match was shot on the police station range.

High scores for the match were, L. Groll, 383, C. F. Keeler, 322, Lawrence Schneider, 381 and A. W. McColley, 318.

LON CHANEY'S SON SIGNS FOR MOVIES

A CLEAR COMPLEXION
Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.
These tablets are wonder workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.
If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasant results.
Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.—Adv.

Daily Proverb—"Who goes himself is in earnest, who sends is indifferent."

Ohio temperatures ranging from sixty-five to sixty-eight February 10. Old Mother Nature surely has been showing compassion for the unfortunate.

Wisconsin has been the only state, thus far, to ask for a federal dole. It is evident that the state government lacks something of that which has proved so amazingly successful in handling the business of the state's chief city.

Ely Culbertson, of bridge fame, will enter a New York City hospital for observation as to gastric ulcers, notice of which recalls to us that famous contest with Mr. Lentz. Were those big mind bets ever paid, or were they made simply to give the contest atmosphere?

The London Times supports Sir John Simon's contention that real security can be obtained only in armament reductions. Maybe so, but let us hope the gathering doesn't pick us to be the goat, this time, to go ahead and disarm, while the other powers thereto continue to augment their armaments.

Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, declines to discuss the Washington reports to the effect that he is not enthusiastic about either Roosevelt or Smith as the Democratic candidate for president, favoring a man from the Middle West or West, which would give him a chance for second place on the ticket. The 1932 pre-convention stories are getting funnier day by day.

The Hon. Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, urges that all delegates to the coming national convention in Chicago go unpledged to any candidate. Can Jouett be stringing the wires for some sterling Democrat who is not an active candidate for the presidential nomination?

It is now costing New York City motorists twice what it did last week to crash red traffic lights. The penalty for that particular manifestation of scorn for the traffic ordinances and the safety of motorists and pedestrians alike has been raised from the former five-dollar standard fine to $10. The municipal courts will learn in time that a mere slap on the wrist makes little impression on reckless motorists.

Former President Calvin Coolidge and the insurance company of which he is a director have been sued for $100,000 damages by a St. Louis life insurance man, who charges that Mr. Coolidge, in a recent radio talk, did him damage to that amount by indirectly referring to him and a form of "term insurance" which he sells. What, if any, verdict he may get is a question, but the insurance man plaintiff is getting some free publicity. After all is said, that may be what he seeks.

A Convenient Basis.

The nine-part plan outlined in the world disarmament conference by Hugh Gibson was a sound tactical maneuver. By means of it, the United States set a conference goal so far ahead of anything the delegates expect to reach that they are bound to make progress if they even start in its direction. It is fitting that this nation should be the one to hitch the disarmament conference's wagon to a star.

The United States proposes abolition of the submarine, lethal gases and bacteriological warfare. It advocates protection for civil populations against aerial bombing and special restriction for tanks and heavy mobile guns. It recommends continuance of existing naval agreements, with further downward reduction as soon as France and Italy smooth out their differences. Concerning land armies, it suggests formation of a standard measure to determine the size of the forces needed for internal duty and national defense. It is willing, furthermore, to entertain suggestions for limitation of expenditures on war materials to avert a "quality" armament race such as Germany started with its pocket battleships.

It is unlikely that the proposals will be approved, without first being revised broadly. Further reduction in naval armament will not be an attractive proposal with every fleet watching the quarrel in China. Each nation, whether willing to admit it or not, will have to be in possession of the facts concerning lethal gases and bacteriological warfare, in case some other nation breaks faith and decides to use them.

For present purposes, therefore, both sides will do well to regard the nine-part plan as nothing more or less than so many proposals—a convenient basis on which to start the involved considerations that will occupy the conference during many weeks to come. The proposals do not represent what will be done—not even what the delegates hope will be done. They are a starting point.

Are They Worth What They Cost?

It can hardly be said that the report of I. S. Guthery, state director of agriculture, on the status of the county fair as an institution carried any great degree of surprise. His conclusion, following a survey of all the county fairs of the state, was that the county fair is a losing proposition. To those conversant with the history of such fairs for the last ten or fifteen years, the surprise, if any, was that he put the case so mildly as he did. He might well have stated that the county agricultural exposition, as a financial proposition, is a dead one.

Perhaps the director, reluctant to hit a thing when it was down, felt that it would be kindlier to permit his figures to show the county fair is a dead one, without bluntly saying so. In any event, his figures showed that the cash balance of all the county fairs in 1931 was but $21,183 07 as compared with an aggregate cash balance of $171,198 39 in 1921, while the aggregate debt had increased during the same period from $293,850 60 to $523,159.59.

Certainly a sorry showing for the county fair, and possibly one which does not include unpaid premiums and unpaid portions of premiums in the cases of some of the fair organizations, among them being our own here in Marion county.

But while on the subject of county fairs, Director Guthery might well have gone a step further and given his conclusions regarding the state fair as a profitable institution; in other words, whether the profit, education or amusement derived from it, justified its cost to the public

Those who have kept in touch with the financial affairs of the Ohio state fair have been cognizant of very liberal appropriations made for it from time to time by the general assembly, while the general run of newspaper readers will probably recall a news story from Columbus, shortly after the 1931 fair, which threw light on the subject. It was to the effect that this year's state exposition would have to get along on a smaller fund than ordinarily as $250,000 of the $400,000 appropriated for the 1931 and 1932 state fairs had been expended in putting on the fair of 1931.

There is realization that the question will arouse wrath on the part of the citizenry of one state capital, who look upon the staging of the big state show as a sacred right and privilege, but in times such as those of last year is a state fair worth a quarter of a million dollars to the heavily-tax-burdened people of Ohio?

There is a plan afoot in New York state to line up all judges before whom divorce proceedings come to refuse decrees in all cases wherein the defendant, if a resident of the state, is not in court. It doesn't require much thinking to arrive at the conclusion that there is decided merit in the plan.

The attack made on Chinese Delegate Yen during the progress of a session of the Geneva disarmament conference by Minister Liu, assigned by China to represent the Flowery Kingdom in Berlin, naturally arouses speculation regarding what may happen if nationals get to fighting among themselves. That gathering should be more than a disarmament conference in name. Delegates and distinguished guests should, in the interests of peace, be frisked for weapons before being permitted to enter.

Young Mr. Zee.

A young Chinaman named Zee, without in the least intending to do anything of the kind, got his name in the papers and told the world a good deal about the Sino-Japanese struggle just by being natural.

Zee is a corporal, despite the fact that he is only fifteen, and had quite a time getting his heavy rifle around. He is working hard in the war, but he doesn't mind it, because he is having an extraordinary amount of fun out of it.

Last Sunday he was hungry and cold, so without any trouble, apparently, he left the trenches and retired three miles back of the lines to get some warm food. On the way back to his duties at the front he thumbed a ride in an automobile bearing certain war correspondents, which explains how his story got so much attention

Corporal Zee isn't at all discouraged. On the contrary, he is boyishly confident that, when the real fighting starts, he and his doughty fellows will rout the Japanese without much trouble. The correspondents noticed that he wore tennis shoes instead of hobnails. Corporal Zee plans to lead the charge after the fleeing enemy, perhaps.

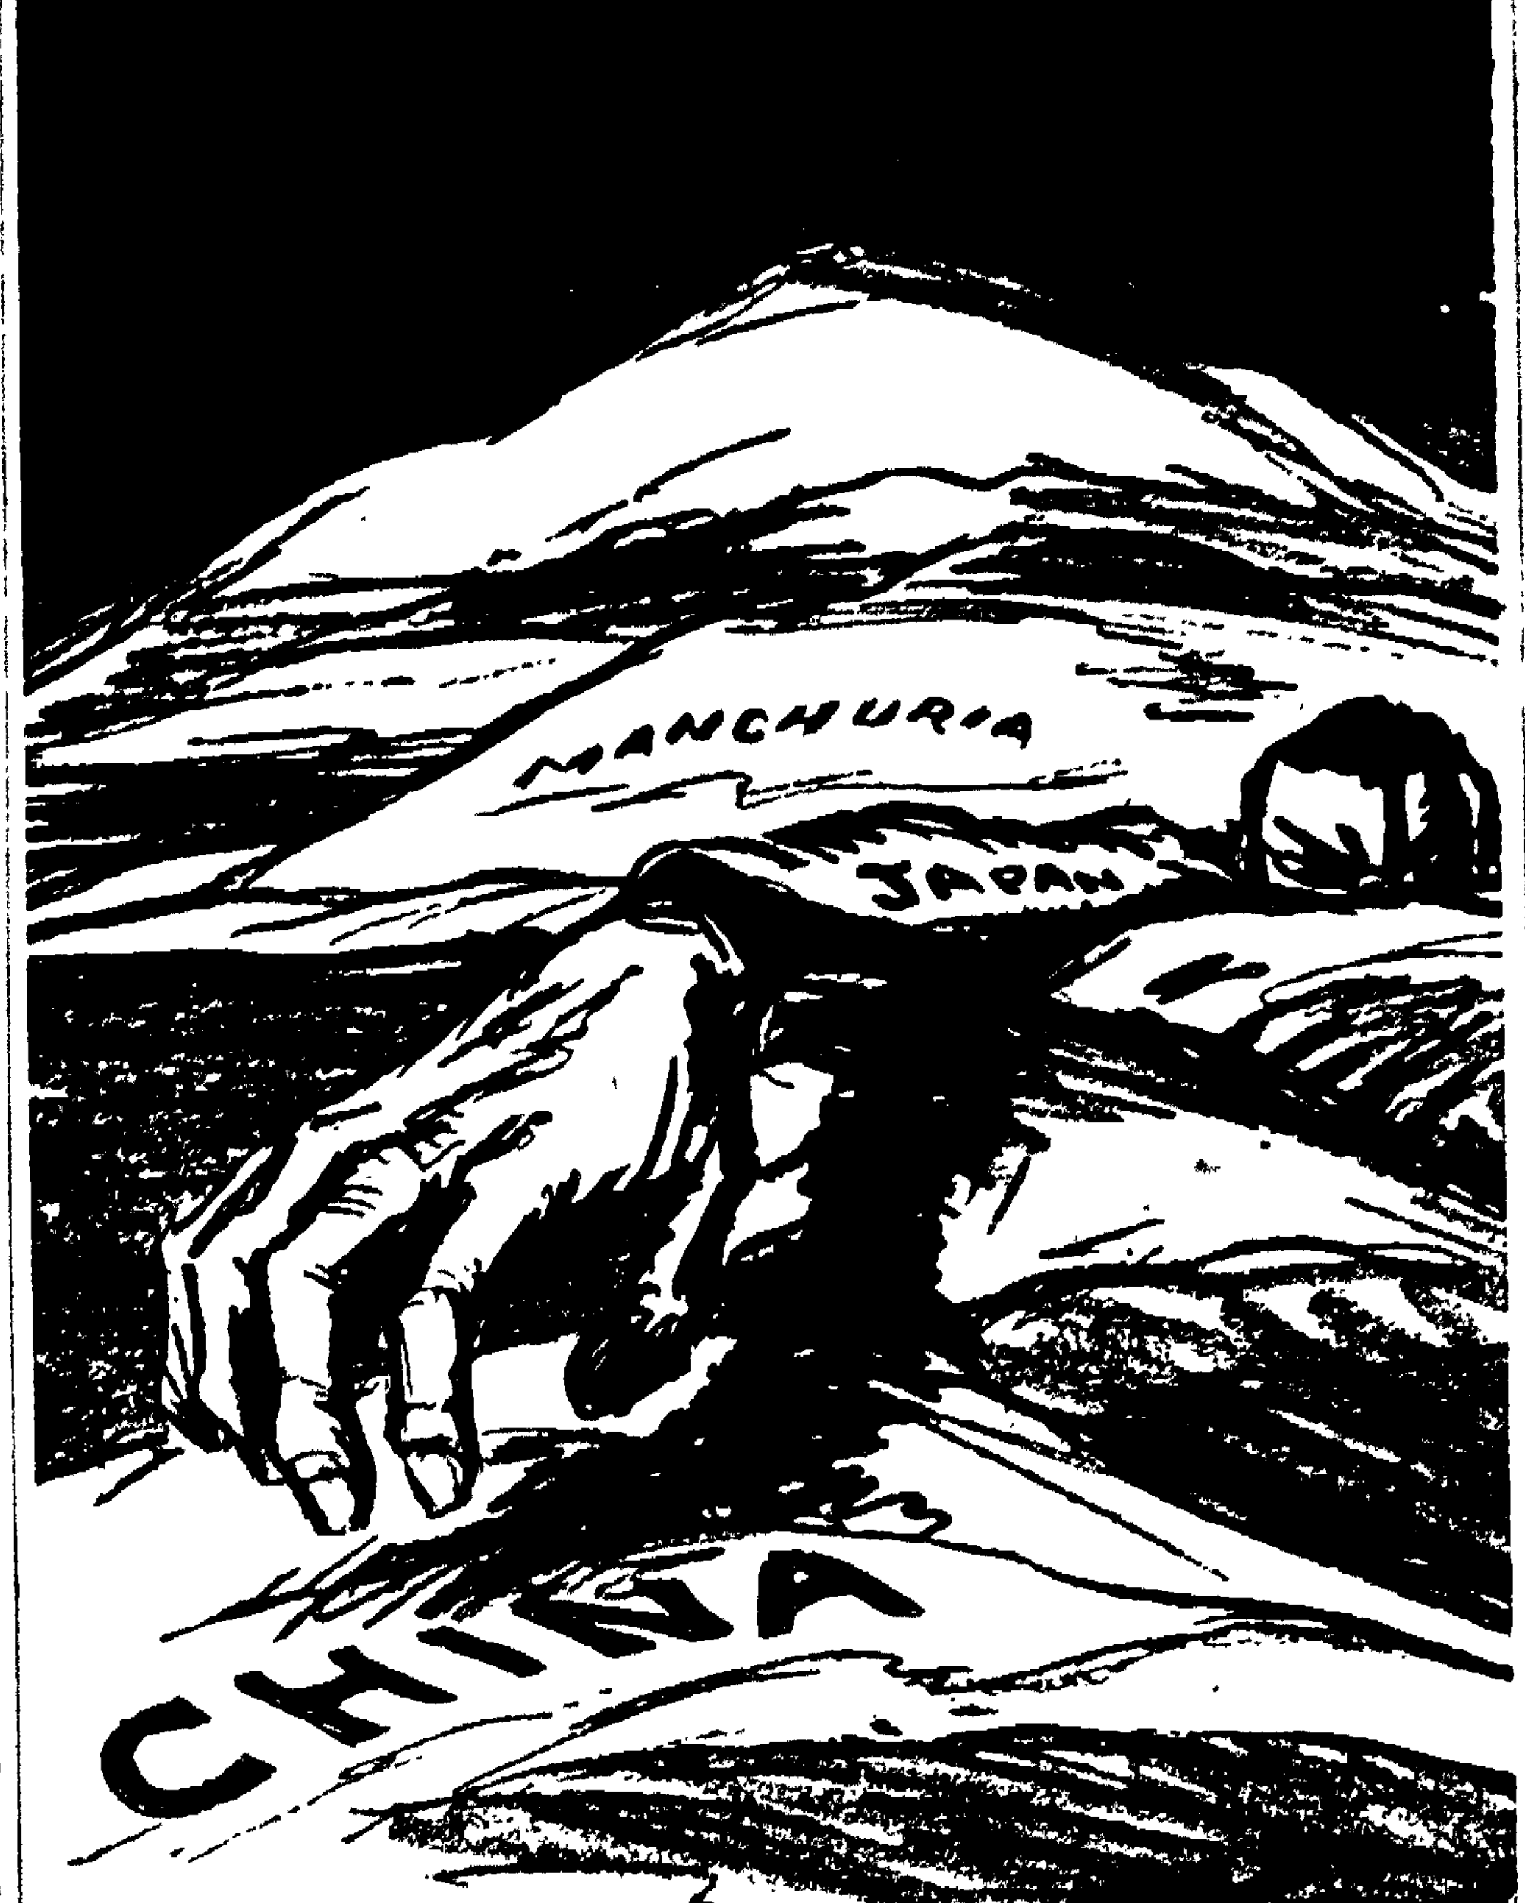
Individually, Mr. Zee isn't important in the least. No one will ever hear of him again. As a symbol, however, he tells this half of the world something interesting about the international conflagration in the other half, where fifteen-year-old boys become corporals and have a good time repulsing the enemy when they aren't cold and hungry and have to walk three miles behind the front to get food.

Life is cheap in China. The Japanese could fire all their guns every day for a hundred years and still not make an impression on tens of millions of Corporal Zee's relatives. Attacking China is like tearing down the Great wall stone by stone; Japan can exhaust herself without being able to show any material progress. If Corporal Zee and his warriors ever start to fight in earnest, and they seem to be thus inclined, Japan will see the error of its project.

There were 1,297 automobile deaths in Cook county, Illinois, in 1931, an increase of 197 over the record of the year before and the greatest number in the county's history, but the murders dropped from 434 to 344. That's understandable. The ranks of Chicago's motorists have not been depleted by internal strife and deportations as have those of her gangsters.

Federal regulation of interstate passenger bus transportation was urged before the senate interstate commerce committee, this week, by a large delegation of prominent New Jersey people. Why not? The interstate bus transportation business should be put under federal regulation or the railroads relieved from it. Not only that, but the interstate trucking business should be treated the same way.

A CHINAMAN'S CHANCE!



Editorial Opinion.

THE PHILIPPINES.

The situation in the Far East will affect legislation proposed in relation to Philippine independence. There are those who believe the United States should give up its guardianship and control of the islands. There are those who believe with equal sincerity that to do so would be to imperil the interests and prestige of this government.

Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, is one of those who disapproves the giving up of the Philippines. He holds that to do so at this time would be "an act of sheer folly." His arguments appear to be logical. He is chairman of the senate committee on insular affairs and has been a leader of the forces favorable to the maintenance of United States sovereignty over the islands. As he sees it, the question is whether we shall give up our right to share freely in the commerce of hundreds of millions of people in the Orient.

Inasmuch as we have heretofore stood uncompromisingly for the policy of the open door in China—now threatened by Japanese disregard for all treaty obligations—we should adhere to that policy by keeping control of the Philippines and our naval base there. He points to the present crisis, in which American warships were able to reach the disturbed area in China within a short time as indisputable proof of the value of the islands to this government. He points also to the increased value to us of the islands in the event that some other power should seize control of Chinese ports, or if China insists in doing away with extraterritorial rights, for in either event, the harbors and rivers of China would be closed as naval stations for our warships.

To give up the islands, he further urges, would mean that we also would have to give up Guam, which is surrounded by Japanese islands, and the ultimate cession of Guam to Japan, leaving us with Pearl Harbor as our only naval base in the Orient.

These considerations are to be reckoned with. A great game is being staged in the Pacific and the purposes of Japan appear to be obvious.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

DOMESTIC LOST MOTION.

Some women who have been forced to do without a servant appear to be making some interesting discoveries in reducing what might be termed "domestic lost motion"—in saving steps by studying what must be done and doing it with the least effort. One housekeeper has found that by arranging in an orderly manner the work she must do from the time she switches on the light until she calls the family downstairs to breakfast, she has reduced the actual labor one-half, and has cut down the time of preparing the meal one-third. For instance, when she opens the refrigerator, she takes out everything she needs and carries it into the kitchen. One visit to the kitchen-cabinet serves the same purpose. By having the kitchen table closer to the range, she is able to turn from one to the other without taking a step. There must be other women who have found it possible to save an equal amount of labor in housecleaning. Necessity is now the grandmother of invention. The housewife is its mother.—Richmond News-Leader.

Diseased Tonsils.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

There are many factors that determine the health of the growing child. To have normal growth there must be no nasal obstruction and no seat of infection in the throat.

Many times the general health is below par and there is failure to gain in strength and weight. Often these conditions have their origin in the presence of adenoids and diseased tonsils.

Adenoids are small masses found in the upper and back part of the throat. In infancy they are soft and spongy, but as the child grows older, they become quite firm and hardened.

Many children have adenoids that cause no symptoms. But where the tissue is present in large amount, there is nasal obstruction. This makes it necessary to breathe through the mouth.

The stupid expression, and the mental dullness present in a case of adenoids are characteristic. Head colds are frequent and chronic nasal catarrh, complicated by deafness, is far from uncommon.

Often the nights are sleepless. The repose is broken by bad dreams and night terrors. There is difficulty in breathing. Some children suffer from signs of nervousness. Persistent hoarseness, lasting for months, and bronchial asthma have been traced to the nasal obstruction.

The treatment is surgical. When adenoids are accompanied by urgent symptoms, their removal is imperative. This should be done even at an early age.

Diseased tonsils have been blamed for a large amount of ill health, especially in young children. The seriousness of tonsil disease is not dependent upon the degree of the enlargement. Very greatly swollen tonsils may be comparatively harmless. Their only danger is their obstruction to normal breathing. On the other hand, small, deeply embedded tonsils may be badly infected. They flood the system with germ products which are destructive to health and life.

An attack of acute tonsilitis is ushered in by a chill and a rise of temperature. There is pain in the throat and considerable difficulty in swallowing. The throat is reddened and sometimes the tonsils are covered by a film difficult for a layman to distinguish from that caused by diphtheria.

A laxative, rest in bed and a light diet may relieve the condition in a few days. But should further attacks occur, or symptoms of disturbance in distant organs develop, it is wise to seek the advice of a physician.

This is imperative because Bright's disease, organic heart disease, rheumatism, St. Vitus' dance, even blood poisoning, have been found to originate in a small, deeply embedded tonsil. Indeed it may be so small that to all appearances it may seem quite blameless for the undermining of the general health.

It must not be overlooked that the germs of tuberculosis often find an entrance to the body through a diseased tonsil. In short, you can not afford to disregard disease of these organs.

Efforts to treat an infected tonsil by medicine have been unsuccessful. Even the use of electricity is uncertain, although the new "diathermy" treatment is highly regarded by able physicians.

An operation on the tonsil should be done only by a competent surgeon. He will skilfully and completely remove the diseased structure.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Feb 11—Apparently President Hoover and one of his chief political lieutenants think a bit differently about this question of the patriotic impulses of those gentlemen working to bring relief to the country.

Consider, for example, the night that the President received the bill authorizing the creation of the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation.

It was a big moment for him when he affixed his signature making it a law. The short statement he issued to the press, announcing the fact that he had signed the bill, contained a rather remarkable sentence:

"I wish to pay tribute," said the President, "to the patriotism of the men in both houses of congress who have given proof of their devotion to the welfare of the country, irrespective of political affiliation."

Two hours or so later a tall, handsome and smiling young man arose in Chicago to make a speech. It was Patrick Hurley, secretary of war, and one of the President's close political advisers.

It was a different story Secretary Pat had to tell about motives and patriotism than that made earlier by the "Chief."

He pictured President Hoover as a maligned executive, a victim of propaganda intended to defame his character and ability.

"A lot of this," continued the secretary of war, "has been conducted anonymously by men who would sacrifice the welfare of the nation to gain a political advantage. But even the critics have been driven by the people to adopt the President's program."

Is it Hurley's idea that this is patriotism under duress?

This marks the second time the secretary has engaged in making pointed jibes at those who have criticized the President. At the meeting of the Republican national committee in Washington last December he started things popping with pretty much the same kind of speech.

One thing seems to be fairly clear about Hurley at the present. He intends to contribute as his part in the reelection of President Hoover a zest and enthusiasm comparable to any.

Sheridan at West Point.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

Philip H. Sheridan was appointed to West Point in 1848 and, making good grades, he should have graduated with the class of 1852, but an altercation with a fellow cadet resulted in his suspension for one year. Thus he relates the circumstances in his memoirs:

At drill one day a cadet sergeant, W. R. Terrill, gave an order to him to "dress," in what Sheridan conceived to be an insolent tone. Further incensed because he believed himself to be already properly dressed, he lowered his bayonet and made for Terrill. Realizing his mistake, Sheridan returned to his place in the ranks, but Terrill reported him, and that further nettled Sheridan and the next time the two met he assaulted Terrill.

This occurred in front of the general cadet headquarters, and the two were separated by an officer and each required to submit a report. Sheridan's was naturally unsatisfactory, and suspension resulted. After a year spent in his home at Ohio, Sheridan returned, taking his place, as the order of suspension specified, at the foot of the first class. But he managed to lift himself before the year ended to thirty-fourth place in a class of fifty-two.

Though a Virginian, Terrill was loyal to the union, and when General Buell's army was assembling at Louisville in 1862, he was with it with the rank of brigadier general. Sheridan thought it proper of him to make overtures of reconciliation, and Terrill accepted his hand promptly—a new friendship being established. But it was not to last long, for soon afterward, Terrill fell at the battle of Perrysville.

Two men who became prominent in the Civil war graduated with Sheridan, J. B. McPherson and John M. Schofield, and also John B. Hood, who was distinguished in the confederate army.

ACCURATE AND DEADLY.

Editor Star—On page 4 of Monday night's Star appeared a picture of a trench mortar with the caption, "Ancient and Antiquated."

The trench mortar may be ancient, but it is by no means antiquated. It was used with great effect by the German armies in the trench deadlock of 1915-1917, and most of the trench mortars used by the Chinese armies are of German design and manufacture.

It is a more dangerous weapon than a breechloading one, but a well-trained soldier seldom gets hurt while serving one. And, contrary to general opinion, most of the nationalist regiments are well trained.

The muzzle-loading Stokes mortar is one of the eleven arms of the United States infantry, also the United States marine corps, and is considered a standby.

The writer observed the fire and effect of the type of mortar pictured in the Star while in China a few years ago, and from any viewpoint it was accurate and deadly.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, Feb. 11—If I were to name the most versatile of the amazing personalities in the metropolis the choice would be Fulton Oursler. Yet, save in a literary circle, he is least known of the geniuses. Now thirty-eight, his accomplishments have taken place in the past nine years.

His beginning was as an obscure reporter on a Baltimore newspaper. To date he has written under five pseudonyms and authored the Anthony Abbott detective stories, the last of which was "About the Murder of the Night Club Lady." He visited a night club but once.

During the year he translated from the German—a five dollar wonder book of magic. He is a member of the American Society of Magicians and Society of Psychic Research and one of the five Americans who can perform India's disappearing rope trick. He aided Houdini in exposing fake mediums.

He wrote "Sandalwood," for Pauline Lord, "The Spider," for John Halliday, "Behold This Dreamer," for Glen Hunter and "All the King's Men," for Grant Mitchell. At the moment he has a play under rehearsal under a nom de plume and the exciting screen version of his "The Spider" for Edmund Lowe is from his pen.

Last fall he was working on three plays, one with John Erskine, at the same time and along with other duties exercised editorial supervision over a chain of cheaper magazines. He is slated for the presidency of the Authors club, founded by Mark Twain.

Oursler has a push button brain which switches with wild enthusiasm from one thing to another without losing the art of concentration. Quick, fluent and moody, when he grows fatigued he pulls from a shelf a sailor-clad ventriloquist's dummy. He is a master ventriloquist.

He lives in a drab, mysterious four-storied house in west Seventieth street and is one of the most difficult men, outside of J. P. Morgan, in the city to reach by telephone. He rarely visits an office, but labors in a large, library-like room on the third floor. The remainder of the house is cluttered with shadowy museum pieces.

It would seem Oursler contributes enough talent for one family, but he's only half of a talented duo. His wife is Grace Perkins who played two years with Frank Bacon in "Lightnin' " and wrote such best sellers as "Angel Child," "Ex-Mistress," "Night Nurse," "Personal Maid" and "Boy Crazy."

* * *

Oursler, during the fantasia of his astounding career, once edited a musical journal and sponsored several text books for musical colleges. His interests in science and mythology are so keen he can discuss anything from Greek myths to the pathological and psychological motivation behind the present nudist craze.

Nearly six feet, dark, medium build and weighing 165 pounds; he has coal black hair, snapping black eyes and a remotely bright smile. Visitors may find him brooding before an open fire-place, like a dark cloud of wisdom, halting now and then to dictate swift memoranda to an ever-hovering secretary. Despite enchantment for the theater and literature, he is never at opening nights or literary roundups. On occasions he slips away to prowl around magic shops. There is about him in repose an aura of gentle bleakness—a scrupulous neurosis—relieved at intervals by brightly colored acts of grace.

Britain's Awful Wire Service.

BY W. G. QUISENBERRY

London, Feb. 11—U.P.—After years of ceaseless complaint and much wear and tear on the nerves, Londoners at last have hopes of getting a decent telephone service.

Telephone and telegraph companies throughout the British isles are government monopolies, and the service, so to speak, is conducted by the postoffice department. The British public makes no secret of the fact that it is deplorable.

Why the government persists in running the telephones and telegraphs is a mystery even to many of the officials themselves. They make no money for the treasury. Indeed they annually incur a heavy loss. The telegraph service, for instance, is now some $250,000,000 in the red.

Not only that, but in matters of speed and efficiency both services are regarded as a joke, albeit a grim one if you have tried to send a wire to northern Scotland and found it takes a day and sometimes two days to deliver it. The telephone service, even within the confines of London, is often little short of maddening.

For years, therefore, Londoners have been trying to get the services taken out of the government hands and put into those of private companies.

The late Labor government felt this was inimical to its socialistic tenets. But now some 320 members of parliament have signed a petition paving the way for the change and sent it to the prime minister.

Down on the Thames waterfront, at the eastern edge of the city, is a great dark cavern where a man could become lost. Here are stored 750,000 gallons of wine.

The cavern is known as the Crescent vault and it is the show vault of London. It is 137 years old and its casks stretch over three and a half acres. Men with lanterns wind their way through the eerie darkness tapping each keg twice a day. They can tell by the sound whether it has sprung a leak.

Wines of every kind in the world are stored in the Crescent vault, and some of them have come from the other side of the globe. Every one who enters has to carry a lantern with a number, for besides lighting his way it lets the overseer know just how many people are in the huge cellar.

No Need To Stay FAT

There are millions of people, slender and active, who can testify that excess fat and sluggish vigor need no longer be endured. You can see for yourself if you look about. Abnormal figures are nowhere near so common as they were.

Medical science has made a great discovery. It is the fact that excess fat is largely due to a scanty gland secretion. Food that should supply fuel and energy goes to piled-up fat. The remedy is not starvation, but correction of that fault.

Now doctors, the world over, feed this lacking factor. They combat this cause. And excess weight, by millions of pounds, has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola prescription tablets are based on this modern factor. They are prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory to present you this right treatment at small cost. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Multitudes of users have told others the amazing and delightful results. Thus Marmola holds the pinnacle place in this field of reduction helps.

Don't wait longer. Don't cling to methods hard or futile. Do the right thing now. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. A book in each box gives the formula, and explains why the fat disappears. Start today on reduction by Marmola. You will always be glad.

Pimples and Blackheads Covered Face. Healed by Cuticura.

"My trouble first began with a dry skin. Then pimples and blackheads appeared and soon covered my face. The pimples festered and grew very red and itched and burned so badly at bedtime that I could hardly sleep. They looked so badly that I did not like to go out in public. The trouble lasted about two months.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Charles Jackson, 20 Riffle Ave., Greenville, Ohio, June 29, 1931.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. M, Malden, Mass."

HOW TO TREAT ECZEMA AND ITCHING SKIN

What every sufferer wants is quick relief from the terrible itching that almost drives them mad.

Nothing acts more quickly than Peterson's ointment when rubbed thoroughly into the skin. Many times all itching disappears overnight.

As a remedy to banish eczema and to rid the skin of pimples, blotches, and eruptions Peterson's ointment has been in great demand for many years—it's mighty healing power is marvelous.

A South Dakota woman writes: "I have found nothing so good for itching skin and insect bites as Peterson's Ointment."

An Iowa woman writes: "It is the only Ointment that helps control my Eczema," and from the State of Washington another woman writes: "It is the only Ointment I can find that will cure eczema."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

Insane and Medieval Ideas

W[illegible] a shriek Hope rushed past [illegible] father to the window. [illegible]ng back the curtains to see [illegible] she couldn't believe was true [illegible] the unholy, lovable, outrageous roadster disappearing around the bend of the driveway—off down the road!

"Dickey!" she screamed. "Dickey!"

[illegible] Hope turned back to face her father. Blood of the same [illegible] each with the same granite [illegible] and imperious pride, they [illegible] each other. Both were pale, with eyes that seemed to have forgotten love in this, their greatest moment of conflict.

"What did you do with him?" she demanded throatily "Where did he go? What did you do to him?"

Strangely still stood John Howard Ross, his thin pale lips twitching, his eyes unblinking and almost glittering as he stared steadily at her.

Hope struggled valiantly—between the fear of a little girl before the father she had been trained to obey and respect, and her own desperate faith in a new love. Struggled to swallow the welter of tears that were straining at her throat, and the very hungry, very faint and very helpless feeling that was stealing over her.

"I want you to know, Dad," she said with deadly certainty, "that nothing can keep me away from Dickey I love him, Dad Don't look at me like that! I love him and I'm married to him. Daddie! Don't look at me like that!"

She was crying now—bawling openly like some three-year-old—her hands pulling at her dress. . . .

"I'm sorry," she wailed "Sorry I did it -like I did I shouldn't have, I suppose. But Mama was so mean to him, and none of you understand him, and Daddie, I love him so I'm sorry I didn't realize how I would hurt you ...But now, Daddie, or a million years from now, last night or years to come in church with a veil—it would be Dickey with me Always!"

Still the unchanged expression stared stonily down on her, lips twitching. Still the silence, despite the fact that in her earnestness she had caught at the lapels of his coat, tugging to emphasize each swollen half-strangled word.

She flung herself, breathless, into a huge high-back needle-point chair. In echoing silence she cried until her sobs expended themselves in her anger and fear.

A sharp, stern voice cut in on her quivering breathlessness.

"Go to your room," said Papa Ross.

She waited until she could see him plainly. See the grim, taut face that had spoken those unfeeling words.

Slowly she got to her feet.

"Listen, Dad," she managed huskily "You're not fair. Not to listen or even speak to me. I didn't mean any harm. We haven't done any harm, except to—"

"Go to your room!"

Without another word, Hope started past him. Because she couldn't quite clearly see, and because she expected him to step aside for her to reach the staircase, she bumped awkwardly against him.

A slight groan escaped his lips, and his right hand went up swiftly to the limp arm.

"Dad! You're hurt Daddie, what is it? You're hurt!"

All softness and sympathy she had turned toward him. But his right hand went up as a barrier.

"Go to your room!" he repeated as if forcing each word through his teeth.

So noisy was Hope's refuge in weeping when at last she reached her own be-taffetaed and canopied bed, that she didn't hear a key turn in her door For centuries she lay face downward, a fanciful wreck of a bride; finding only one warm and living comfort Sassy eventually snuggled close to her hot cheeks, mewing intermittently, his white fur becoming entangled in her yellow curls, as she clasped him to her grubby face and told him over and over that it wasn't fair, and it couldn't go on Dickey would return soon and probably bring Hickey, and surely her father would come to talk to her and then she'd explain just how it had happened.

But dusk crept over the hills of Westchester and it did go on, and Dickey didn't appear, nor did her father come to talk to her.

Eventually, Hope bathed and dressed afresh, marveling at so much heartache as she gazed into her own bewildered, reddened eyes in the mirror

At length she gained courage and with a quiet determination she walked to her door.

But the door of her bedroom was locked!

A wave of fury swept through Hope. And with the fury came the end of tears and repentance!

If only there were a telephone in her room! So often she had thought of asking for one. And now—if only she could hear Dickey's voice! If only she could know where he was, and what he was doing . . .

At 8 o'clock that night the key turned in her lock and her door was flung open. On the threshold stood her father Silent Never glancing at her Past him came Dill, the cook, bearing a tray which she deposited on the end table beside Hope's pet armchair.

"Good evening Miss Hope," mumbled Dill from sheer necessity to greet the forlorn figure standing at the window.

Hope started. Her eyes had been on her father's unapproachable countenance Now her little jaw grew square and her lips curled

"I'm not Miss Hope," she said quite nastily Oh, very nastily indeed "I'm Mrs. Dale, Cook."

"That will do, Dill," said Mr Ross sharply.

"Yes, sir. Good night, Mrs Dale!"

Hope smiled with sour triumph as the cook clacked sedately through the doorway But the smile faded as her father followed the servant swiftly, closed the door and turned the key once more in the lock.

"Dad!" she called, and flew to the door, beating it viciously with her small fists, "I won't have it! You can't treat me like that. I won't have it, you hear? I'm not a baby any longer Listen to me!"

But if Papa Ross was listening on the other side, no sound or murmur came through the door to quiet her anger.

"Treat me like a prisoner!" Hope cried. "I never heard of such insane, medieval, outlandish, downright cruel ideas in all my whole life!"

To Be Continued.

RESTFUL SLEEP for FRETFUL, FEVERISH CHILD

—With Castoria's regulation

When wour child tosses and cries out of his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. Very often the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. Bowels need help—mild, gentle help—but effective. Just the help Castoria gives. Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for children's ailments. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge stubborn little bowels to act. Then relaxed comfort and restful sleep! Genuine Castoria always has the name:

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Katie's Timely Intervention Saves Madge from Possible Injury or Death.

EVEN as those murderous, bound hands rose above my eyes, the heavy metal handcuffs outlining the yellow wrists, I realized what must be the malevolence of these two bound Chinese whom Lee Chow and Hugh Grantland had brought with them.

The man who just had gathered himself into a catapult and flung me to the floor must have known that he could not escape. But Hugh Grantland's quiet words about deporting them back to their own country had goaded him into this desperate and hopeless chance. I knew also that he meant every word of his threat. Those heavy handcuffs would descend once—they would need but one blow—upon my temples unless his captors agreed to his preposterous demands.

A Dramatic Moment

I had no fear of death, however. It was a more terrible fear—that the hands of one of the three men in the room dear to me, my husband, Lillian's husband, or my old friend, would in another few seconds be stained with blood. All of them were armed, all of them crack shots, all of them could shoot from a coat pocket if necessary, without the betraying movement of a muscle. That all were tense, watching, deadly cool, I also knew. I could visualize the next few seconds. They would pretend to temporize, and at the first favorable second one, perhaps all of those hidden revolvers, would blaze death at the man crouching over me. My face would probably be terribly bruised as those dread manacled hands fell upon it, but there would be no murderous force behind the blow, and I should be safe. But always there would be with me the awful memory of death dealt for me by someone I loved.

Lee Chow said something unintelligible to me, but, before Hugh could answer, there sounded a terrific screech from behind the Chinese, and our imminent tragedy was suddenly changed into something nearer farce For with the scream, two sinewy arms went around the neck of the man crouching above me, jerking him backward, and two clawing, scratching hands plowed furrows in his face and stabbed at his eyes.

Katie Saves Madge

It was Katie who had saved the situation, Katie who, not hearing the man's threat, and therefore [illegible] afraid of consequences, had [illegible] back into the kitchen from an errand just after the man had flung himself upon me, and had rushed to my rescue in her own unreasoning but effective fashion True, she could not have held him but for a second, but before the Chinese could catch his breath our three men had reached him and were trussing him as though he were a fowl ready for roasting, in the same fashion as his companion in the corner of the room

Lillian and Katie helped me to my feet and Katie flung herself upon my breast, weeping violently

"Oh, Meesis Graham! My Meesis Graham!" she wailed "I tought you dead I tought he keel you und I going keel heem."

"You did your best, Katie," Lillian said in the matter-of-fact manner that brings my little maid out of a temperamental explosion more quickly than anything else "And we're all very proud of you There's no doubt that you saved Mrs Graham's life And now suppose you help me clear away this mess" she indicated the emergency, first aid bed upon the big kitchen table "You'd better burn these sheets and towels don't you think so Madge?"

"God Bless Katie."

"Of course" I answered, curiously soothed and strengthened by the same calm treatment that had brought Katie to her senses My little maid was already at the table and Dicky, leaving the Chinese to Harry and Hugh had caught me in his arms

"Oh, my girl! my sweetheart!" he whispered "Are you all right? Sure you're not hurt?"

"No no," I assured him

"God bless Katie" he said "but I'd like to say the reverse too If she hadn't butted in that fellow's head would have been nicely blown off his shoulders. I've a notion to do it anyway"

I caught at his arm "That's the thing for which I'm so grateful to Katie" I said "I knew you'd shoot him and I couldn't bear it"

He stared at me "Women are kittle cattle" he said at last "I'll never"

"Do you think you have a patent on this discovery?" Harry Underwood asked coming up to us Hugh Grantland a step behind him "Let's look at you Lady Fair! Not a scratch? Good!"

"I should have known!" Hugh Grantland said "He was shamming after the first few minutes I should not have taken those trussing ropes off When I think of what might"

He broke off patently making a mighty effort to pull himself together But I saw again that flame in his eyes

"He did not hurt you?" he asked anxiously

There Are No Casualties

"A slightly bruised elbow is the only casualty I can discover," I answered smiling "Please, all of you don't consider me another minute You probably have work to do"

"We have" Hugh Grantland replied with sudden grimness, and something in his tone made me shiver. "But first I want to make sure of something Will you have your maid bring you down fresh clothing to some room adjoining this, and will you burn what you have on after you have washed your face hands and any exposed portions of your neck and arms in an antiseptic solution?"

"I'll take care of her," Lillian said promptly. "Come, Madge, into the laundry with me Come along Katie, and we'll tell you what we want to get. Call us if you want us boys"

She closed the door behind us when we had sent Katie to my room with directions for the clothes I wished brought.

"They may want us again, but I doubt it," she said, her face grave, "I feel it in my bones that there will be some nifty third degree stunts pulled in the farmhouse kitchen or more probably—the bungalow, tonight." — Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lillian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

LING NOT EXPECTED TO PLAY IN ASHLAND GAME FRIDAY NIGHT

X-Ray Reveals Giant Marion Center Has Cracked Bone in Ankle.

Harding's hopes of recording a victory over the Ashland Hilltoppers Friday night were handed a resounding smack yesterday with the announcement by Coach D. N. Bohyer that Jack Ling, giant pivot man of the Presidents would probably be unable to appear in the game this week. Ling has been bothered all season with a bad ankle and an X-ray yesterday revealed a cracked bone that is expected to keep Ling from competition at least this week and probably longer. There is a possibility he will get in part of the game against Ashland but it is decidedly uncertain.

With Ling apparently slated for a bench warming position, the task of taking care of the tip off man's duties against Ashland are tossed onto the shoulders of Bill Stark. Stark has been performing as an understudy to Ling all of this season and will be able to fill the post without noticeable loss of strength.

Stark Six Feet Two

Stark's only difficulty lies in being able to travel a full game at the break-neck speed which is almost certain to prevail Friday. Stark is shorter than Ling but still reaches above the six feet two inch mark and is almost the equal of Ling when it comes to getting the tip-off. He will oppose Thomas, one of the best centers in the N. C. O. league in the Ashland conflict.

Aside from the Ling casualty, the Harding squad appears in fairly good shape for a hard conflict with Ashland. Billie Hero, midget forward, is still bothered somewhat by his injured leg but is expected to be on deck and ready to go against the Hilltoppers.

Harding Drills Hard

Coaches Bohyer and Williams put the Red and Black squad through a fairly strenuous scrimmage session yesterday afternoon on the Shovel court, probably the last hard workout the Presidents will get before the Friday night battle.

Indications are that with the exception of Ling, Bohyer will start the same combination against Ashland as has been taking the floor in earlier games, namely, Blecher and Hero at the forwards, and Lindsey and Pickerel at the guards. However, there is a possibility that some changes will be made in this combination before time for the game Friday.

Ashland has been working hard in preparation for this game. The Ashlanders are working hard to avenge the early season defeat at the hands of Harding and will "shoot the works" this week. A defeat for either team means virtual elimination from the race for the title.

PHALANX BEATEN BY MANSFIELD FIVE

The Phalanx fraternity basketball team dropped a 44-30 tilt last night to the Mansfield North end team on the Mansfielders' home court. Jones and Melvin played a good game for the Phalanx five.

Olympic Sledder

No sir, this is not an impersonation of the "Man in the Iron Mask." It is Hubert Stevens, pilot of the two man bobsled team which yesterday flashed down the icy slopes at Lake Placid New York to break the world's record and capture the Olympic event for the United States. Hubert's brother, Curtis, was the brakeman on the record breaking dash which retained for America the title won four years ago at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

CALEDONIA TO MEET KIRKPATRICK FRIDAY IN RURAL CAGE LOOP

Game Has Important Bearing on East Half Championship Struggle.

With three of the four division championships already in the "bag," the Marion county basketball league will complete its 1931-32 season Friday night with a total of 11 games slated for the evening's program. One league game, a girls' contest between Pleasant and Waldo remains to be played, having been postponed from an earlier date but this will not be played until after the close of the regular season.

The Morral girls are champions of the West division of the circuit, the Morral boys the title winners of the boys' West half race. The Claridon girls have clinched the crown in the East half girls' chase while the East half boys' battle will not be completed until after Friday night's games and perhaps not then. There is a possibility of a three-way tie when the Friday night games are over. If this results, there will be a playoff for the title next week.

Play at Kirkpatrick

The Kirkpatrick clash with the Caledonia boys will headline the Friday night program inasmuch as it has such an important bearing on the championship of the East half. The game will be played at Kirkpatrick.

MORE SPORTS ON PAGE TWELVE

Should Caledonia win the race will be over and Caledonia will be the winner. Should Kirkpatrick win and Waldo defeat Claridon, then Waldo, Kirkpatrick and Caledonia will all be tied for the bunting. Waldo is favored to take Claridon into camp so the issue hinges squarely on the outcome of the Caledonia-Kirkpatrick conflict.

The other two clashes in the East division will pit Claridon against Waldo at Waldo and Pleasant against Martel at Martel. Both the boys' and girls' conflicts at Waldo assume considerable importance this week. The Claridon girls will be trying for a perfect record against Waldo's lassies, having won nine straight games. Waldo is anxious to put a stop to the Claridon victory streak and a fast game will likely result when the two teams get together.

Pleasant at Martel

Pleasant will invade Martel for what is likely to result in a pair of setbacks for Martel. The Martel teams have not experienced much success this season, both the boys and girls being inexperienced and Pleasant appears much stronger.

In the West half the trio of games will come as more or less of an anti-climax after an exciting chase for the pennants. Prospect will invade Agosta for a pair of games and should have no more than average difficulty in chalking up a pair of wins. Morral will take on LaRue and the latter hardly figures to stop the two division champions. The Meeker boys will clash with Green Camp at Green Camp and should be able to record a victory although the Men of Secrest are likely to put up considerable of a scrap before being downed. The Green Camp girls will not play a league game but are expected to meet the Marion Business college girls in a non-league fray.

MARION WILL ENTER BID FOR INTER-CITY BOWLING TOURNEY

1933 Tournament Would Attract Several Hundred Pin Smashers to Local Alleys.

If plans now in the process of formation materialize, Marion will enter a bid next month at Findlay for the 1933 inter-city bowling tournament which annually attracts several hundred bowlers to the city in which the tourney is held. Frank McRill, proprietor of the Recreation bowling alleys here, and director of most of Marion's bowling competition, is attempting to complete the plans which he hopes will be instrumental in bringing the 1933 affair to the local alleys.

Insofar as is known at present, Fremont is the only other city in the state which is planning to bid for the tourney. All cities under 50,000 in the northern half of the state are eligible to send teams to the tournament. Marion had three teams in the competition last year and expects to have eight taking part at Findlay this year. The tourney will be held from March 19 to April 24 with most of the games being rolled on Saturdays and Sundays.

Besides sending teams to the inter city tournament this year Marion is expected to enter several combines in various other tournaments of Ohio and neighboring states. The Serv-U-Wel stores team and the combines representing the Marion Builders' Supply company have sent their entries to the American Bowling Congress tournament at Detroit and will bowl in the Michigan city on April 7.

Members of the Serv-U-Wel team are E. A. Burger, R. G. Smallwood and Frank McRill of Marion, Cyrus Sears of Harpster and Mr. Billhardt of Upper Sandusky. The members of the Builders' supply team are George Thomas, Paul Boyd, Sam Sharrock, John Dugan and Lee Schuler. Schuler is not expected to make the Detroit trip with the team. The bowler who will take his place has not been named.

Four-Man Bobs Poised for Dash Down Icy Slope

By The Associated Press

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 11—There was tension in the air today as the winter Olympics entered the final stage, where the danger of death or grave injury transcended the nerve-wracking exhilaration of the Olympic bob sleigh championship.

The first half of the competition was ended with the treacherous mile and a half sweep through ice banks and dizzying hairpin turns, zigzags and cross-overs, humiliated, its dangers scorned by riders who slashed its sides at speeds of 65 and 70 miles an hour to set records that 48 hours ago were considered absolute insanity.

There has been a universal feeling that the luck of the riders which has been good since eight Germans crashed within two days in practice, sending six to the hospital, would end before these races were over and that grim Mount Van Hoevenberg would take its toll again.

TOP FLIGHT RATED WINTER FAVORITE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 11—Although only one filly ever won the Kentucky derby, C. V. Whitney's Top Flight, undefeated as a two-year-old last year, continues the winter book favorite to emulate the 1915 triumph of Regret at Churchill Downs, May 7.

Top Flight is held at from 6 to 1 to 8 to 1.

Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman's Tick On, winner of the $50,000 Hopeful at Saratoga, is rated the second choice at 10 to 1. Tick On won only three of 10 starts, but extended Top Flight in the Pimlico futurity.

Will Travel by Rail.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 11—American Association clubs have given up their threats to travel by air next season. Thomas Hickey, president, said the railroads had offered an attractive reduction in rates, which had been accepted.

Ends DANDRUFF Overnight!

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

A young

Man said "All your rent-room ads look alike to me. I want one with a garage, with a good home cooked breakfast and with a shower bath and in a private family; it must be near the Main Street bus line. None of your ads tell me these things and I haven't time to phone or go up and down the streets. You'll rent more rooms if you get your advertisers to write better ads."

Yes, it's a fact—Well Told is Half Rented. Time counts with people these days; they want to know before they go to see. Write a GOOD ad and RENT.

GRID TOLL TOO HIGH, YOST PROBE LEARNS

Michigan Director Finds Football Caused Only 22 Deaths Last Fall.

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb 11—An investigation conducted by Fielding H. Yost, athletic director at the University of Michigan, has disclosed that of 43 deaths charged against football last fall only 22 actually resulted from the game.

Yost submitted a report to E. K. Hall, chairman of the football rules committee, for its meeting at Hanover, N. H., which opens Friday.

Of the deaths which Yost believes should not be charged to football, two were caused by pneumonia, one by infantile paralysis, one by kidney disease, one by appendicitis, one by typhoid fever, six by infection and one by heart disease. One boy was injured while wrestling, another was struck by a truck. One was found alive and well, and another, who was reported dead was found never to have existed.

REFORMED TO PLAY TWO GAMES TONIGHT

The First Reformed Sunday school basketball team of Marion will play the First Reformed intermediate and senior teams of Upper Sandusky tonight on the Steam Shovel court. The first game is called for 8 p. m. The two churches are members of the inter-city Reformed church basketball league.

The Marion senior Reformed team will play the prelim Friday night to the Shovel Y-Indus game with Bliss college of Columbus on the Shovel court.

HORNSBY PREPARES TO START TRAINING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 11 — Rogers Hornsby left farm life behind him today to embark on perhaps the most important baseball campaign of his career.

He bid farewell to Robertson, Mo., and came to Chicago for a final conference with the front office before leading his Cubs to their Santa Catalina Island, Cal., training camp.

William Wrigley, Jr., is gone, but much is expected anyway from the "Rajah" during the approaching season. Now that Wrigley is dead, the Cub directors are more determined than ever to achieve his ambition of a world's title and quickly as possible.

Company D Beaten.

The 134th hospital company of the Ohio National guard from Bellefontaine defeated Company D of Marion in a game played Tuesday night on the Armory court. The final score of the game was 38-19 for Bellefontaine.

DEMPSEY, CHRISTNER DON GLOVES TONIGHT

Former World's Champ Faces Hardest Test of Comeback Campaign.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11 When Jack Dempsey and K. O. Christner meet here tonight in a four-round bout, it will be a clash of two of the ring's most picturesque fighters.

In one corner will be the Manassa mauler, former heavyweight champion of the world; and facing him, the Akron rubber man, one of the sturdiest sockers in the game.

There is a strong possibility, fight experts say, that it will be the hardest fight of Dempsey's barn-storming campaign.

Christner will have a nine pound advantage with his weight of [illegible] pounds, and Dempsey's 195. And as for their years in the business there isn't much difference between them.

Fortunately for the fans and fighters, the bout is only for four rounds promising faster [illegible] than either of these veterans would care to attempt in a longer distance encounter.

Dempsey himself admitted he is today only a "short-distance" fighter.

The handle of an English inventor's cane contains a small flashlight for illuminating key holes.

STOCKS SCORE BRISK GAINS

29-M th Decline Snapped as ssues Are Jerked Suddenly Upward.

By The Associated Press

YORK, Feb. 11—Stocks denly jerked off the bot- 29-month decline today, as pected plan of modifica- national banking sys- greeted with enthusiasm street surged upward in the most very since mid-Decem- bullishness spread to the markets.

that news were an- s that the Ford Motor soon start production of odels, resuming its large- sumption of materials, ation of the regular quarterly dividend of $2 50 by Union Pacific railroad.

In the stock exchange, 1,500,000 shares were traded in the first two hours alone, or more than the turnover for any five-hour session since Feb. 1. Net gains of $3 to $6 a share were numerous, while volatile Auburn shot up more than $13.

U. S. Steel rose nearly $5, getting above $43; American Telephone $6 to $117; Dupont more than $6 to $53; Union Pacific, more than $7 50 to $77; Santa Fe, more than $5 to nearly $78; and American Can, $6 to close to $63.

General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, National Biscuit, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric, Woolworth, Union Carbide, Consolidated Gas, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, New Haven and Public Service of N. J., joined the rally.

GRAIN PRICES MOVE HIGHER

Credit Expansion Moves Provide Impetus to Wheat Buying.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Feb 11—Parallel to upturns in Wall Street securities grain markets scored a brisk early advance today. Credit expansion moves at Washington were a stimulus to active buying of grain future deliveries. Opening ⅛@2 higher, wheat afterward held near the initial gains. Corn started ⅛@1¼ up and subsequently rose higher.

Contributing upward impetus to wheat values were Liverpool advices telling of good general demand for wheat. Leading exporters of North American wheat were also represented as believing that a big business with overseas countries probably would be experienced for the next three months. Word of a cold wave in North Dakota suggested a dangerous fall of temperature ahead for domestic winter wheat, now largely bare of snow protection and unusually sensitive to damage. Canadian dispatches told of the coldest weather of the year, 22 to 62 below zero.

Another bullish factor was a report ascribed to German sources that the 1931 grain harvest in Russia totaled but 25,000,000 tons instead of 50 000,000 expected, and that only 81 per cent of delivery plans were fulfilled. Black sea shipments of wheat this week, including exports from Russia, amounted to only 440,000 bushels compared with 2,192,000 a year ago Some of the buying which accompanied wheat price advances here was on the stop-loss orders from previous speculative sellers. Corn and oats responded to wheat strength.

Provisions sympathized with upturns in hog values and of grain

—Practical and Simple—

Color Contrast for Spring.

PATTERN 2184

The use of two colors in one frock is attractively carried out in this afternoon frock of black and green print with plain green. The original model was made of flat crepe, but sheer wool, canton or Roma crepe would be equally chic. The curved seamings are flattering to the figure and the sleeves with flared cuffs very new.

Pattern 2184 is obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch fabric, 1⅝ yards contrasting. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Send for our Fashion Catalog It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes, accessory and transfer patterns. Price of catalog, fifteen cents. Catalog with pattern, twenty-five cents. Address all mail orders to Marion Star Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

COUPON

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents. Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to the pattern department THE MARION STAR BUREAU, Pattern Fashion Syndicate, Inc., 243 West 17th St., New York City.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Feb. 12

THE lunar transits for this day point to rather stagnant and difficult conditions, with stubborn obstacles and opposition to be overcome by hard work, patience and perseverance. There may be annoyances or disappointments with lands, tenancies of real possessions Offsetting these, however, are interesting promises of social, domestic or romantic liveliness and gratification

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year in which they will have to exert themselves against stubborn obstacles, opposition and delaying influences in order to make any progress Patience and hard work are enjoined, with care as to lands, tenants and real property Elders may cause concern, but the private interests and activities should prove an offset to impediment A child born on this day should be industrious, practical and faithful, and also kindly, friendly, socially inclined and popular traits which should assist its progress and prosperity

STOP THAT COLD
DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.
This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.
To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

WEATHER FORECAST IS RAIN AND COLDER

Temperature Here Yesterday Hit 67 To Equal High Mark for Year.

The soft breezes that gave Marion a "spring fever" feeling yesterday and today, are doomed in the Ohio weather forecast for tonight and Friday.

Yesterday's exceptional February day that brought reports of bees, caterpillars and grasshoppers in Marion neighborhoods, raised the temperature to 67 here. The maximum yesterday was equal to the high temperature for the winter, set in January.

Last night's lowest mark was 59, only eight degrees lower than the maximum.

Rain and colder tonight and cloudy and colder Friday are predicted to bring an end to all the springtime foolishness the weatherman is getting away with when thermometers should rightly be near the zero mark. A trace of rain fell here yesterday.

A year ago yesterday in Marion the miximum was 36 and the minimum was 16.

DISCUSS WARFARE METHODS AT MEET

Methods of warfare used by Genghis Khan, Asiatic conqueror of the twelfth century compared with modern methods, were the topic of discussion at the meeting of United States Army reserve officers of Marion at the armory last night.

The meeting which was preceded by a dinner at the Hotel Harding, was in charge of Ervin H. Shade, president, with Captain Paul T. Hogg, of Findlay, instructor for this district, in charge of the school of instructions. He also served as the discussion leader.

Man Says He Stole Milk To Feed Four Children

For the last several weeks, H. H. Unger, a driver for the Isaly Dairy Co., told police this morning, he had been annoyed by someone stealing milk from his customers. Shortly after 6 a. m today when he discovered a man making way with a quart bottle of milk from a residence on Pearl street, he gave chase and captured him after he had thrown the bottle on the street.

When taken to headquarters by police who were called by Unger, the man told the officers he had four children and was taking the milk for them. He said he had been receiving orders for groceries from the city relief department but had been unable to buy milk.

C. H. Isaly, head of the dairy company, refused to file an affidavit against the man this morning and he was released by Municipal Judge W. R. Martin.

Sleeping cars are now cooled by air drawn across ice.

AUTO, MOTORCYCLE COLLIDE ON STREET

Three Hurt in Collision at Davids and Herman.

Three persons were injured in a motorcycle-automobile collision last night at Davids and Herman streets. None was hurt seriously.

A motorcycle ridden by Glen Dane of Henry street, with Mrs. Dane and Mrs. Edith Bachelder of Mt. Gilead in the sidecar, was struck by a machine driven by a Mr. McNeal of Prospect when he turned off Davids street onto Herman street. The motorcyle was going south on Davids street, returning from City hospital where Mrs. Bachelder had visited her small son Gerald, who recently underwent a mastoid operation.

The three in the motorcycle were taken to the office of Dr. A. A. Starner for X-ray examination which disclosed that Mr. Dane had suffered a fracture of his hand. Mrs. Dane and Mrs. Bachelder were cut about the legs, and leg ligaments were torn.

MILLS CONFIRMED AS TREASURY HEAD

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—Ogden L. Mills and Andrew W. Mellon were clear today of congressional hurdles in the path of their new activities.

Mills was confirmed by the senate as secretary of the treasury, although he cannot receive his commission until three days have elapsed. His predecessor at the treasury can go serenely on his way to the embassy in London, impeachment charges against him completely squashed. Dropping of charges against Mellon was a foregone conclusion. Representative Wright Patman of Texas, filed them. When President Hoover appointed Mellon to London Patman termed the action a "presidential pardon."

Of Yugoslavia's population of 12,500,000 approximately 85 per cent are supported by agriculture.

"I've smoked LUCKIES for three years"

A TINY LITTLE FOX

Sidney Fox is just a fraction of an inch under five feet and weighs all of ninety-four pounds. In her first mo'om pitcher, Sidney occupied the star's dressing room. She clicked immediately in UNIVERSAL'S "Strictly Dishonorable" and slays 'em in "MURDERS IN THE RUE MORGUE." Sidney has smoked LUCKIES three years. She's not only been kind to her throat, but also kind to the makers of LUCKY STRIKE in donating that friendly statement.

"I've smoked LUCKIES for three years. I've tried almost every other brand and found that LUCKIES are truly the only cigarettes that do not hurt my throat. Talking pictures make it even more important for an actress to keep her throat in excellent condition. And I think the new Cellophane tab is slick."
